'Conflict is Inevitable, but combat is optional' - Max Lucado

However you define your community – as family, neighbourhood, workplace, town, or country, we ask the following 3 questions -

“What is your community's system of responding to conflict?”

“How effective are these responses?”

“What else is possible?”

Kate offers this work in the aim of supporting sustainability for all.

Suggested Contribution: $80 - $220 per day.

Please contribute at the top of your ability. No-one will be turned away due to lack of funds.

*A Restorative Circle is a community process for supporting those in conflict. Restorative Circles are facilitated in 3 stages designed to identify the key factors in the conflict, reach agreements on next steps, and evaluate the results.

As a circle forms, it invites shared power, mutual understanding, self-responsibility and effective action.

Based on the work of Dominic Barter - co-founder www.restorativecircles.org

"Kate is on top of this process and she has all the skills and aptitude to bring it to communities, groups and work places. I'm excited that these skills and the Restorative Circles process are resources that can be used by humans powerfully with good outcomes anywhere. In Australia, we are blessed to have Kate Raffin to show us how. Thanks Kate!" – Jenny Spinks – resident at Bend Eco Neighbourhood, Bega. January 2017
